

MYSTERY MAY

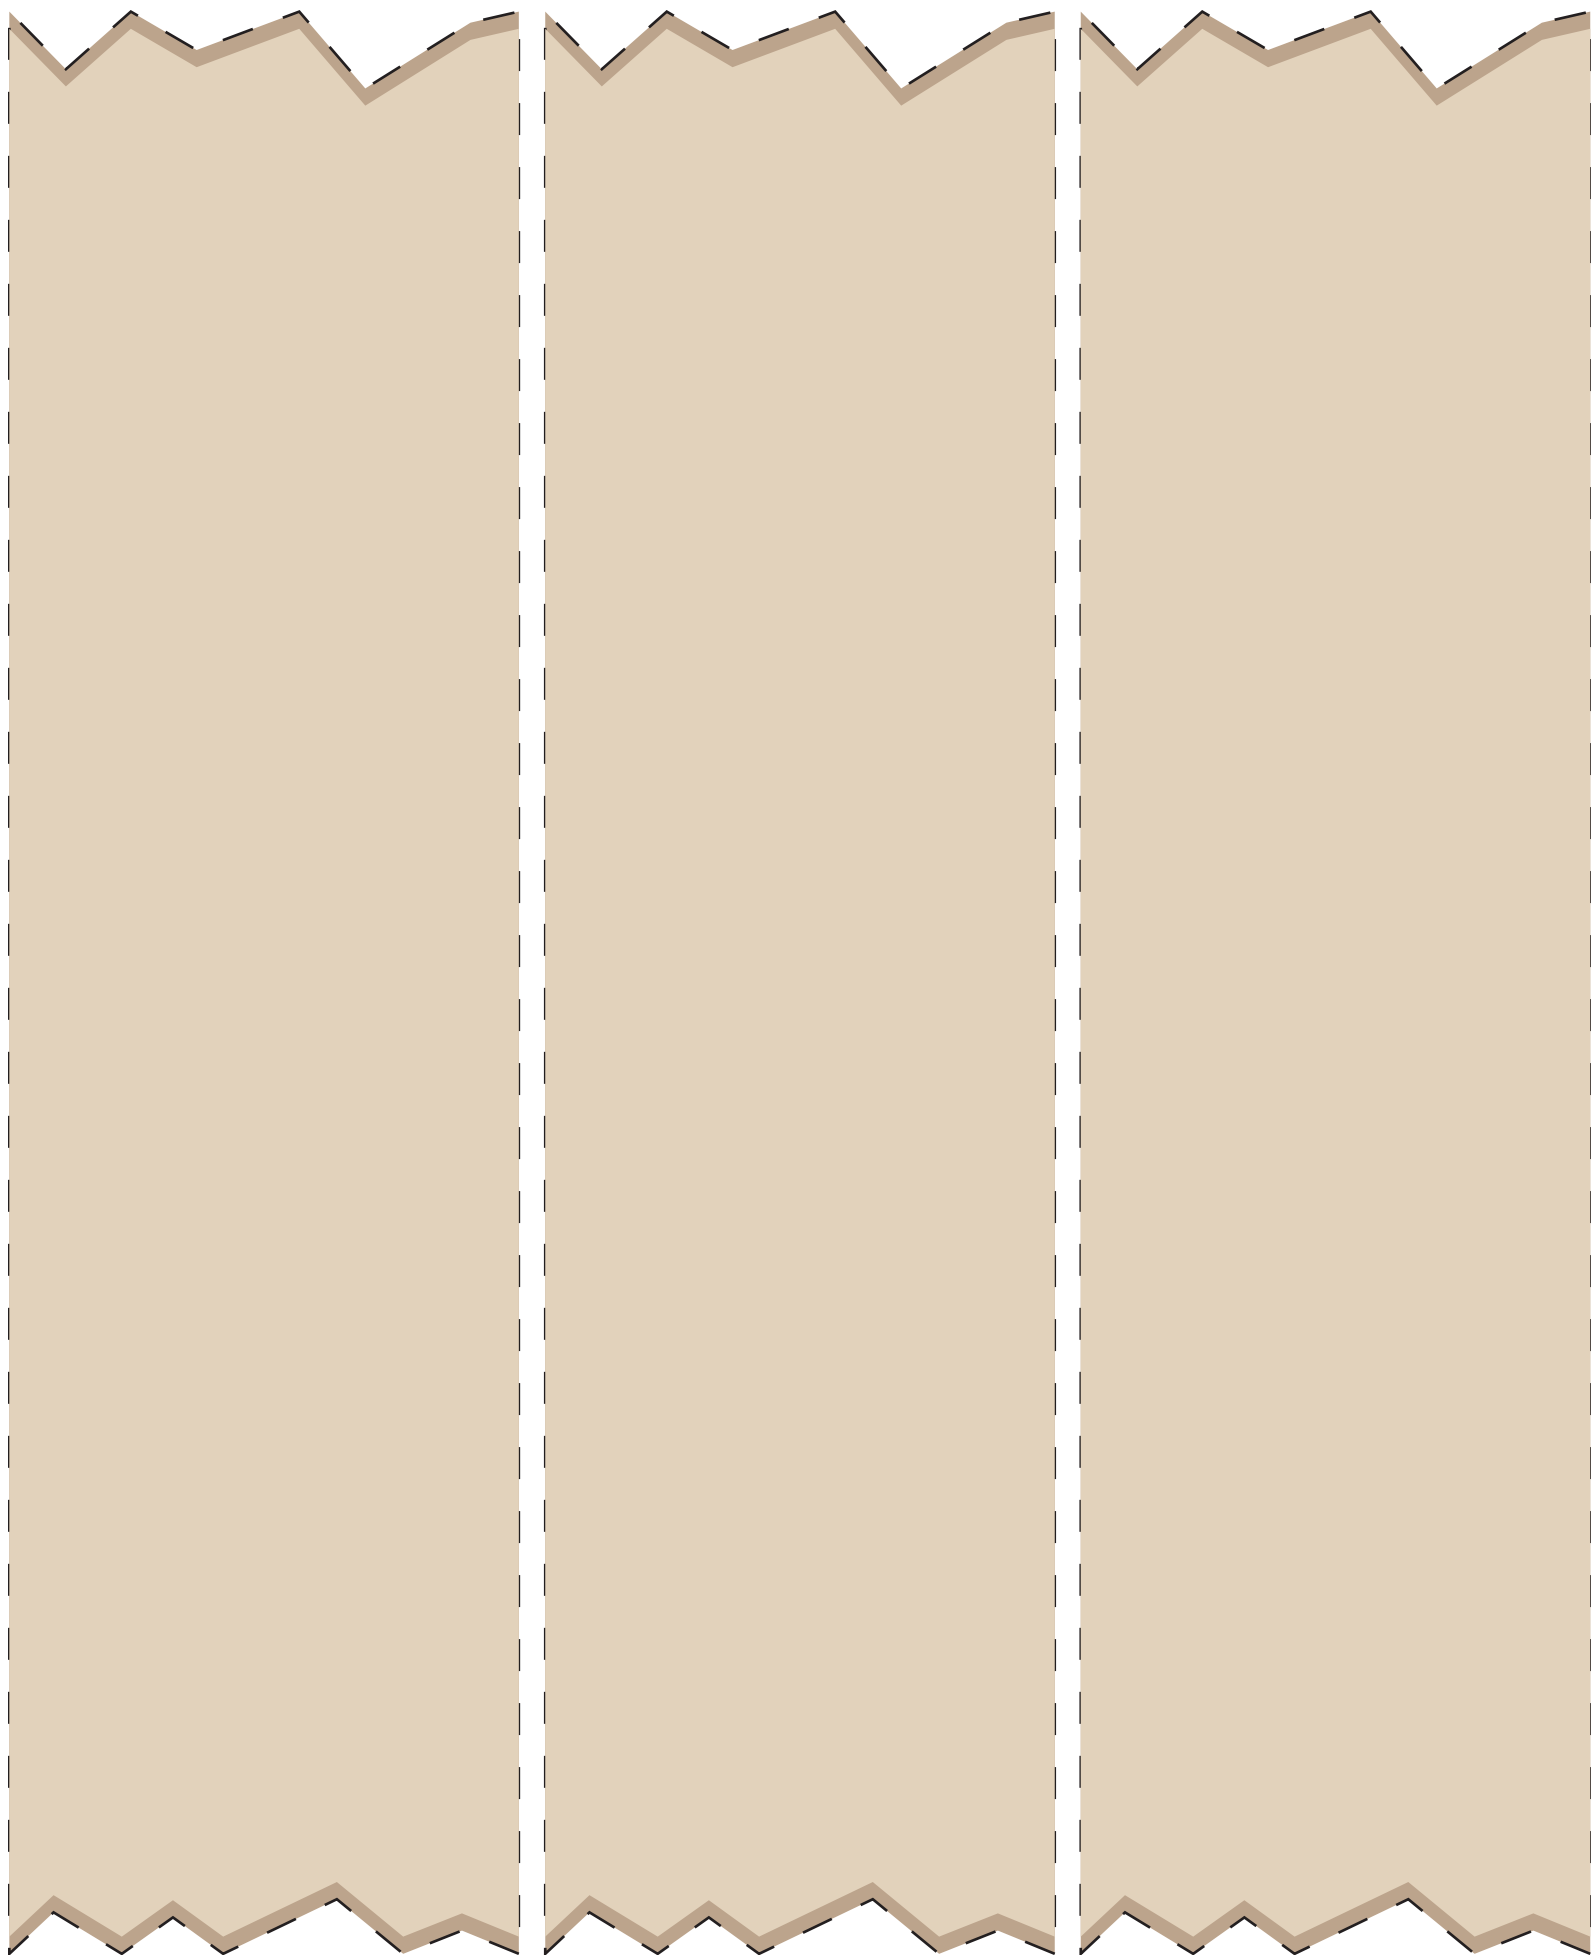

Flight of fancy seeking mind to dazzle

I am different for every person who holds me. Late nights struggling for a little more time together, I will tease your mind and open your eyes to a world of possibilities. I can be anything you want: a dark and twisted journey or a romantic romp through Paris in the spring. I can fill your mind with heavy themes and visceral imagery, or bathe you in atmosphere and make you reflect on life. Devour me cover to cover and then start over to cover and then start again, or cast me to the side and choose another. I will go wherever you go and live forever in your mind.

I am your next book.
